OUR TEAM

We know that our management is held together due to its strong roots, which we believe to be our employees. Their intermingling has nourished Lakhani international to build up as a strong enterprise because we treat each of our employees as a business partner. In return we receive unequivocal and loyal support that allows us to serve our Customers more effectively and with the greater inspiration. In order to serve the customer right, we have a detailed system that starts from the customers order and ends to getting the goods timely shipped to the customers. Different departments in the factory interact and coordinate with each other to accomplish this goal.
